INTRODUCTION

Watches and Wonders is the most competitive week in watchmaking.

It’s also the hardest time of year to break away from industry conventions.

HISTORIC BRANDS

LOCKED IN LEGACY

Big maisons are constrained by their own heritage. For a maison that has been here for 150 years, every bold move gets sanded down by committees, heritage managers and the sheer gravity of the codes they have spent a century building. The result: impeccable and polished.

SMALL BRANDS

LOST IN THE CROWD

At the other end, younger independent brands enter the Carre des Horlogers: the right crowd, the right context, but a format that flattens everyone into the same grid. No room to breathe, no narrative space.

Between the giants locked in their legacy and the independents swallowed by the format, there is a place to take.

AND IT IS OUT OF WATCHES AND WONDERS.

But getting out of WW is not enough. You need a reason that pulls people across the city.

We are here to help you create the “worth it” factor.

CONCEPT 1

MYSTICAL MALLORCA

SCENOGRAPHIC INTENTION

THE AURA READER

In a glowing booth, an aura reader, part mystic, part artist, captures each guest’s energy and translates it into colour, material or a matching stone.

IDEA

WATER MARBLING

Inspired by the traditional art of Ebru, guests explore water marbling to recreate the intricate patterns, flowing lines and vibrant colours of the House’s signature stones.

CONCEPT 2

THE FLOW

THE NARRATIVE

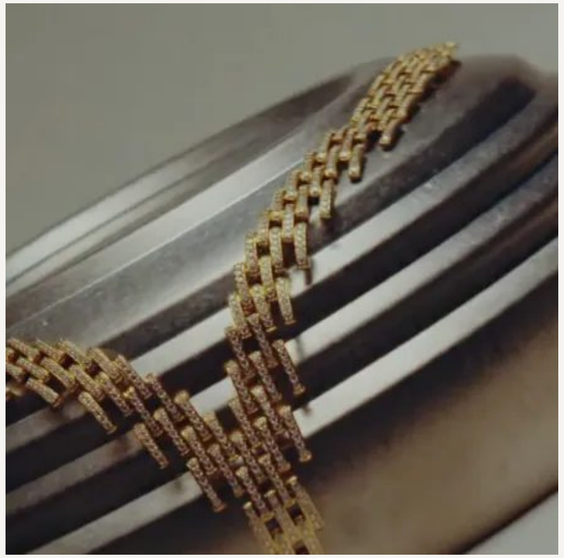
A sensorial experience to bring the Wunderflow to life.

We invite guests to discover the brand’s most distinctive signature, the Wunderflow, through an immersive art installation that transforms a unique tactile sensation into an artistic experience.



SCENOGRAPHIC INTENTION

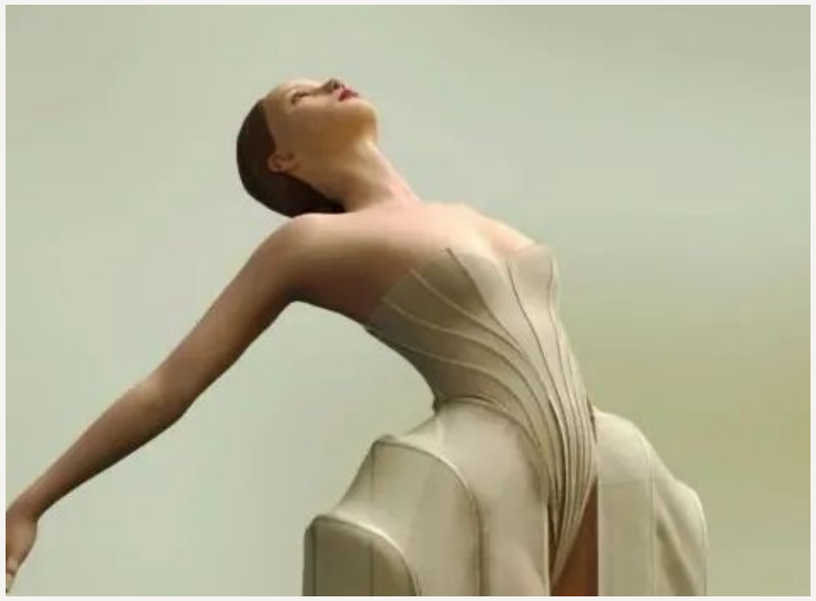
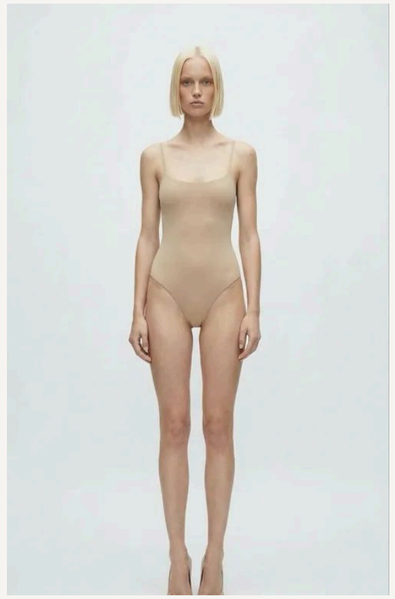
Revealed in a performance-runway, bodies in motion wearing the pieces.





IDEAS

WUNDERFLOW SILK

A delicate silk ribbon printed with House of Wunder’s iconic watches and bracelets, translating the Wunderflow into a tactile gift.

Soft, fluid and effortless against the skin, the silk echoes the way Wunder creations glide over the body, becoming one with the wearer.

CONCEPT 3

BORN TO BE ART

THE NARRATIVE

House of Wunder invites guests to experience watches and jewellery as works of art.

For one night, House of Wunder opens an imaginary museum.

Part art gallery, part temple, this extraordinary space celebrates watches and jewellery as works of art. Rather than being displayed behind glass, the creations come to life on sculptures: a wrist adorned with a watch, a bust draped in a necklace, a sculptural silhouette revealing a precious detail. Each creation becomes a modern relic, dramatically lit and elevated to the status of a masterpiece.

SCENOGRAPHIC INTENTION

A field of figures, endlessly repeated. Inside a black hall, a field of plinths, statues, headless mannequins and dark monoliths, each standing alone in its own beam of light

PHOTOCALL

House of Wunder turns the traditional photocall into a living portrait gallery.

Set against a classical painting in an ornate golden frame, guests become part of the artwork, blurring the line between art and watchmaking.

MUSEOGRAPHY

House of Wunder creates a dialogue between art and fine watchmaking and jewellery. Set against a monumental artwork or an immersive projection, the Maison’s creations are displayed like precious relics, becoming part of the artistic composition.

DIALOGUE BETWEEN MASTERPIECES

House of Wunder invites guests to discover three expressions of exceptional craftsmanship. Through a dialogue between masterpieces, precious creations and exceptional wines, guests explore how time, artistry and savoir-faire transform the extraordinary into something truly unforgettable.

CONCEPT 4

THE ULTRAVIOLET CLUB

THE NARRATIVE

For one night, House of Wunder disrupts Geneva’s conventions, transforming the city’s understated elegance into something strange, sensual, and slightly unsettling.

An after dark social club.

Somewhere in Geneva, an unmarked door opens onto a world unlike anything the city has seen before. Strange, sensual and slightly unsettling, this Lynchian universe invites guests to leave conventions behind. Inside, a succession of themed rooms unfolds, each revealing a new facet of House of Wunder’s universe. The final destination: an all-purple nightclub.

SCENOGRAPHIC INTENTION

The space unfolds as a series of interconnected rooms, each revealing a different secret of House of Wunder. Guests journey through the brand’s universe, discovering its wonders one by one, before reaching the final surprise: an entirely purple nightclub.

REVEAL THE UNSEEN

Throughout the night, ultraviolet light reveals a hidden layer of the experience: Invisible messages, secret menus and unexpected details on walls, objects, outfits. What was hidden suddenly becomes visible, inviting guests to look closer and uncover the secrets of the Ultraviolet Club.

PURPLE UNIFORM

The staff become part of the experience, dressed in matching deep-purple jumpsuits and elegant gloves, creating a mysterious, almost surreal presence throughout the club. Each uniform is accessorised with House of Wunder watches and jewellery, turning every interaction into a subtle opportunity to showcase the collections.

A TASTE OF ULTRAVIOLET

Throughout the night, the Ultraviolet Club’s identity extends to the food and drinks. Creative purple-hued cocktails and unexpected bite-sized creations play with colours, textures and flavours. A signature Ultraviolet cocktail becomes the star of the menu.

ADDITIONAL THOUGHT

This concept also offers a flexible creative framework, allowing all the other proposed themes to come to life within its different rooms.

IV

ACTIVATION MECHANICS

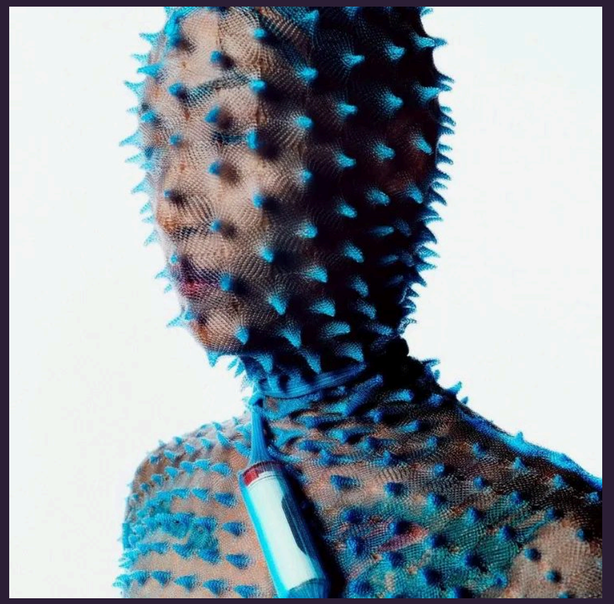
These activation and communication mechanics build excitement around the event and create the “worth it” factor: a reason for journalists and retailers to choose this evening over every other invitation during Watches & Wonders. They also give the brand a strong presence across the city.

SIGNAL IN THE CITY

Signals in the city. Mysterious visual elements appear in public space: a projection on a façade, light beams, traces on the ground, hidden QR codes. They come back at a set time or in specific places, with no explanation beyond the brand’s logo or colour. Passers-by notice them, wonder what they are and photograph them. Scanning a QR code unlocks exclusive content, such as a clue, a video or an invitation, which pulls people into the story.

ROAMING CHARACTERS

A small group of performers in recognisable outfits (purple hooded capes, logo on the back) moves through the city along a planned route. They don’t speak and don’t sell anything. They stand out through their presence, their slow pace and their ritual gestures. Now and then they interact with someone, for example by handing over an invitation or an object.



MOBILE EXPERIENCE

A temporary physical space that changes location every day. It doesn’t replace the showroom or the launch evening; it sits alongside as a more intimate touchpoint. It allows closer, more personal encounters, for instance meeting the CEO in a small group or one-to-one. Access is limited: by invitation, at certain hours, or after following the clues.

FAKE OOH

Short CGI videos are set realistically in real, recognisable places such as the Jet d'eau, the harbour or a Geneva facade. They show impossible scenes like a famous statue that comes to life wearing House of Wunder pieces.
